IEQ, Mold & Disaster Restoration Conference is the focal point of the annual Healthy Buildings Summit. The Healthy Buildings Summit grew out of the annual IAQ Training Institute "Summer Break" event which started in 2008. The Healthy Building Summit brings together indoor environmental professionals, cleaning and restoration professionals, building owners and managers, building scientists and home performance professionals for two plus days of presentations, panel discussions and research projects. This is a must attend event and unique opportunity for networking, building lasting relationships and updating your companies procedures in an intimate and relaxing location.
